

Meyers Toronto, on behalf of
THE BOOTMAKERS OF TORONTO, requests the pleasure of your company at the annual

BLUE CARBUNCLE AWARDS DINNER

Saturday, January 30, 2010
The Royal Canadian Military Institute
426 University Avenue, Toronto
(Just steps south of the St. Patrick Subway Station)

Cash Bar at 18:00

Dinner at 19:00

The tariff is $60 per person, which includes dinner, an opportunity to visit this living museum of Canadian history, including its wonderful library, along with the company of other like-minded people of infinite wit and charm. Guests are welcome, as always, to share in the evening.

Two spectacular Sherlockian Door Prizes will be awarded! As well, you will be diverted and entertained by diverse toasts of scholarly intellect and erudition.

This is a return to a venue that we enjoyed more than a decade ago—and one whose elegance and ambiance is most suitable for a Sherlockian celebration, Replies MUST be received, with full payment, using the attached reply form, no later than January 15, 2010. Cancellations cannot be accepted after Friday, January 22, 2010.

Please note that there is a dress code at the RCMI that includes jacket and tie for gentlemen and similarly appropriate dress for ladies. Of course, Victorian dress is encouraged.

If there are any questions, or dietary restrictions, please contact Meyers at doug.wrig@sympatico.ca
